Roman Theme Parties

Throwing theme parties has always been fun and exciting. Sadly, folks have recently started to water down their theme parties and have made them dull. White parties are some of the worst theme parties imaginable. Why would somebody want all of their guests to dress up in the most boring clothing color imaginable? White is not even a very good color to use for attending parties. One mishap with a drink and you have a very noticeable stain on your clothing.

People looking to have an enjoyable theme party should get back to basics. Deciding on a party theme that is interesting, easily recognizable, and unique is not a very difficult task. The Roman themed party is very easy to do and yet very exciting at the same time. It gives everyone an excuse to go out and rent a neat looking Roman armor costume. In this article I'll talk about what you need to do to create your own Roman themed party. I'll even tell you where you can go to purchase some nice costumes to wear.

Firstly, you'll need to create invitations. Roman themed invitations will certainly kick the party off in the right direction. You can use medieval theme paper and write with a fancy fountain pen to make the ink look old. Writing them in Latin might seem like a good idea, but your friends and family members might not like it.

Roman food should be the next thing on your list. Roman food tastes great and is simple to prepare. You'll just need lots of breads, cheeses, and wines to start things off right. After this just cook a hearty main course and your food obligations are complete.

Following this you should go ahead and get your costume. Gladiator costumes, aristocracy clothing, peasant clothing, and soldier armors all make great Roman outfits. Great costumes can be purchased at www.historicalclothingrealm.com.

Lastly, you'll want to make sure to decorate the room to look as Roman as possible. Cover modern items up or move them completely out of the room. Then you can put some ancient items around the room like suits of armor, weapons, medieval instruments, and paintings. You don't have to rob a bank to supply these items, but don't go too cheap either. Get some of your friends to play the music and you'll be all set.
