

Published based on The best way to Dress for University

The best way to Dress for University

University marks the best years of a student's life. Aside from meeting many new folk, you also try experimenting with your dressing and hair styles. But the problem of what to wear always persists. Here are one or two tips which will help you in finding your true style while keeping up with trends and staying comfortable. The first thing to think about is where your college is situated. Is it found in a hot area or a cooler climate? The local weather should be regarded as your wardrobe will be based mostly on what you can and cannot wear.

Find your style

If you're moving to a University or College located in tropical regions, it is best to buy airy clothing like sundresses, shorts and t shirts. You should also consider purchasing swim-wear and casual shoes like flip flops. If your college or university is situated in a less warm region, you could go for colorful and fashionable sweaters, and other warm clothing. You could also add accessories like hats, gloves and boots that are well suited for the local weather.

Comfort is of utmost importance. You cannot have some fun in university or college if you are uncomfortable with the clothes you wear. Go for something that is right for you. If you're more comfortable wearing jeans than skirts, you might maintain a collection of jeans in different colours and styles to increase variety. If you like wearing funny t shirts with smart lines, you might buy simple cotton t shirts in different colours.

Experiment with attire

University or college is somewhere your style truly evolves as you step out of adolescence into the big, wide world. Finding the proper balance between your kooky nature and maturity is the key. You may experiment with different skirts and tops to suit each season. You could also try out different hairstyles and accessories for a unique or stand-out look. If you are still uncertain about your style, you could continue experimenting or select safe options like a single coloured t shirt and a couple of black or blue jeans. Funny t shirts, classy dresses or casual shorts, irrespective of what you choose to wear, make sure that you feel comfortable and assured when you step out.

Richard Parrott owns 'It Is What It Is ', a uk website which sells a wide selection of Funny T Shirts, Geek T Shirts and all sorts of different T Shirt designs.

You can also find this article published on The best way to Dress for University, and on the tag pages Clothing, college, different hairstyles, funny t-shirts, local weather, style.